

Client Consent Form

Relationship Therapy

The Love Scout Relationship Therapy specializes in counselling services addressing core issues around relationships, love, intimacy, sex and communication. Sessions include a dynamic variety of modalities, psycho-education and practical skills which empower clients through a holistic approach.

Confidentiality & Privacy

All information will be held in accordance with the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth). In the case of disclosure of personal information to other healthcare providers, consent will be explicitly sought. The client has the right to confidentiality within limits provided by State and Federal Law. The exceptions are as follows:

- Therapist believes there is a reasonable likelihood another person is in danger
- Therapist is required to report safety issues pertaining to children per mandatory reporting laws
- Therapist is told details about a planned serious crime with more than 5 years penalty in NSW
- A court subpoenas the therapist's notes/therapist is summoned to discuss case notes in court
- Therapist attends accredited supervision for professional development

Rights

The client remains the right to request to view case notes, cease to continue or return to therapy at any stage and raise concerns in regards to the therapy provided. The therapist remains the right to terminate a session if ethical or safety concerns arise without reimbursement of the client.

Service

Each session is 50 minutes in duration and is provided in person or online. There are no Medicare and Private Health rebates. Invoices are sent via email and require payment finalization within 7 days. Cancellations made more than 24 hours ahead of the session will not be charged. Cancellations made within 24 hours will incur full session fee.

I have reviewed and understood the Client Consent Form. I accept and agree to the terms stated above.
